Welcome to LexisNexis AU

LexisNexis is proud to announce the launch of our new global legal online platform.

LexisNexis AU offers significant enhancements to our existing LexisNexis Butterworths Online service through improved reliability and interface functionality. It saves you time by providing quick access to all your existing Australian legal content.

LexisNexis AU has been developed specifically with the Australian end-user in mind and reflects our commitment to providing easy-to-use, comprehensive and authoritative services to our customers through continuous improvement and innovation.

Key Features of LexisNexis AU

- Quick and easy access to commonly undertaken tasks e.g. find the full text of a piece of legislation.
- Shortcuts to your favourite publications from the homepage, increasing ease of access to frequently used sources of information.
- View a publication tree next to the related text (for some sources).
- Find the publication you need by searching or browsing all subscribed sources by name, subject, jurisdiction or content type.
- Greater flexibility to co-ordinate your results such as viewing the latest case searched or sorting results by date or jurisdiction.
- Enhanced printing, e-mailing and downloading functionality.

Trusted, reliable and authoritative publications for sourcing quality content

The launch of LexisNexis AU demonstrates our commitment of providing superior Australian and international content from trusted, reliable and authoritative sources.

Quality Service and Support

We constantly strive to provide you with a superior level of support. This remains unchanged.

Dedicated training is provided with your introduction to LexisNexis AU. Our User Guide offers detailed instructions so that you get optimal performance from LexisNexis AU.

As part of our ongoing support, our Customer Relations and Electronic Helpline are available to assist you from Monday to Friday, 8am-6pm (EST) and 8am-8pm respectively.

Home Page

Introduction

The Home page is divided into three principal parts:

1. Common Tasks
2. Quick Links
3. General Search

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis Home page. At the top is the LexisNexis logo and navigation links: Customise, Sign Out, Contact Us, and Help. Below the logo is a red navigation bar with tabs for Search and Sources. Under Search, there are links for Home, Cases, Legislation, Commentary, Forms & Precedents, Journals, Dictionaries, and Services. The page is divided into three main sections, each marked with a red circle and number:

- 1 Common Tasks: This section contains a search bar with the placeholder text "Find a case in CaseBase". To the right of the search bar is a "Go" button and a link to "Enter case name or citation".
- 2 Quick Links: This section is divided into three columns: "Cases/Legislation", "Commentary/Other", and "Practice Areas". Each column contains a list of links to various legal resources, such as "CaseBase Cases and Journal Articles", "Halsbury's Laws of Australia", and "Civil Procedure & Litigation".
- 3 General Search: This section contains a "Search Terms" input field, a "Search" button, and a "Sources" section. The "Sources" section has a dropdown menu set to "+ All Subscribed Sources" and checkboxes for "Cases", "Legislation", "Commentary", and "Forms & Precedents". There is also a link to "Show Document Sections" and a "Clear Form" button.

On the right side of the page, there are two additional sections: "Links" and "Help". The "Links" section contains links to "Latest Cases", "LexisNexis website", and "Training Materials". The "Help" section contains a link to "View a Tutorial" and a list of links for "Overview", "Searching", "Working with Results", "Delivering Results", "Scheduling Searches", and "Selecting Sources".

Common Tasks

From this section you can quickly and easily undertake common research tasks by selecting a task, entering your search terms and clicking Go to retrieve your search results.

1. Select one of the tasks from the drop-down list.
2. Enter your search terms.
3. Note that the help text appears to the right of the search box when you select a particular task.

The tasks that are available to you will depend upon the sources that you subscribe to.

1 Find a case in CaseBase 2 Go → Enter case name or citation 3

Find a case in CaseBase

Corporations Law [Browse] [View]

How to:

Find a case in CaseBase

Enter a case name or citation to find the CaseBase entry for that case.

Find full text of a case

Enter a case name or citation to find the full text (reported and/or unreported) of the case you require in your cases sources.

Examples: gould AND brown; 163 ALR 270;
1999 31 ACSR 99; 1999 HCA 27; BC9903189, S140/1998

Find an Act/Regulation/Rule

Enter a legislation title to find that Act, Regulation or Rule in your legislation sources.

Example: trade practices; copyright

Find a definition of a legal term

Enter the term to find a legal definition in the Butterworths Australian Encyclopaedic Legal Dictionary and/or Australian Legal Words and Phrases.

Find legislation judicially considered

Enter the name of the legislation and/or a section number to search within CaseBase and Australian Current Law Reporter to find cases where that legislation has been judicially considered.

Example: trade practices act AND 52

Find a form/precedent

Enter a form or precedent title or number to find that form or precedent within your form and precedents sources.

Example: notice AND motion

Find amendments to legislation

Enter the title of the legislation to search within Australian Current Law - Legislation for amendments to that piece of legislation.

Example: Corporations Act 2001

Quick Links

Use the Quick Links section to search or browse a source to which you subscribe. The sources are categorised by different content types. Cases and legislation sources are listed in the first column and commentary and other (eg journals, forms & precedents etc) sources in the second column. In the third column you will find practice areas (similar to the libraries links on LexisNexis Butterworths online).

1. Click on the source title to search that source.
2. Click on the word Browse (where available) to view the Table of Contents of that source.
3. Click on the word [View] next to the practice areas to see the list of sources.
4. To view further sources or practice areas click on the More... links.

General Search

Use General Search

1. Type your query in the Search Terms box. Use connectors to show relationship of terms eg AND, OR, w/5 (see page 15 for an explanation of available terms and connectors)
2. Select the sources you wish to search across. You can choose sources from the drop-down list, or tick the box beside a particular content type.
3. To learn more about the contents of a source, click the information icon ⓘ next to the sources drop-down list.
4. Click Search to run the query.
5. You can also choose to find your search term/s in specified parts of a document by using the Show Document Sections option.
6. Select a connector from the first drop-down list (no connector, AND, or OR).
7. Select a document section from the Search Within drop-down list. Only the sections available in the source you selected are shown (if you selected a combined source, all the sections available in any of the individual sources are shown).
8. Enter search terms that are appropriate for the section you selected in the Using terms text box.
9. Click the Add to search button to add your document section search criteria to the Search Terms field. The syntax of your document section search will automatically be formulated correctly eg JUDGE (Dixon)

Note: Document sections are specific, pre-defined segments of a document through which you may target your search. For example, you may search for specific words only within the legislation title section, or a specific name only within the judge section. You may construct a search entirely out of document sections, or combine a document section search with your other search terms.

The screenshot shows the 'General Search' interface. At the top, there's a 'Search Terms' box (1) and a 'Search' button (4). Below this is a 'Sources' section (2) with a dropdown menu (3) showing 'Halsbury's Laws of Australia'. To the right of the dropdown is an information icon ⓘ. Below the dropdown are checkboxes for 'Cases', 'Legislation', 'Commentary', and 'Forms & Precedents'. A '+ Show Document Sections' link is below the checkboxes. A red arrow points from this link to a second window below. This second window shows the 'Hide Document Sections' link (5), a 'Select the section restriction required, enter terms and click "Add to search".' instruction, a 'Search within:' dropdown (6) with 'Select a Section -' selected, and a 'Using terms:' text box (7) with an 'Add to search' button.

Content Specific Search Pages

LexisNexis AU offers several ways for you to search, using the content-type tabs that appear across the top of all search pages.

The Content Specific Search pages that are available are:

- 1. Cases - use this form to search all of your cases sources. Depending on your subscription, this may include Australian Law Reports, Family Law Reports, Unreported Judgments, Australian Current Law Reporter and CaseBase Cases. From this form you can also access the CaseBase search form (to search both the cases and journals components of CaseBase), as well as the Australian Current Law - Reporter, Australian and New Zealand Citator to UK Reports, Cases Indexes/Tables search forms.
- 2. Legislation - use this form to search your subscribed legislation sources. Depending upon your subscription, this may include sources such as LawNow Legislation, Australian Corporation Law - Legislation, Federal Statutes Annotations plus the legislation content of sources that contain more than one content type (ie commentary , legislation and forms etc) such as Bankruptcy Law and Practice. From this form you can also access source specific forms for Australian Current Law - Legislation, Statutes Annotations and Legislation Indexes/Tables (eg LawNow Progress of Bills information).
- 3. Commentary - use this form to search within commentary sources, or within the commentary portions of services. Depending on your subscription, this may include sources such as Halsbury's Laws of Australia, Cross on Evidence, and Ford's Principles of Corporations Law.
- 4. Journals - use this form to search within your journals sources. Depending upon your subscription, this may include sources such as the Australian Journal of Contract Law, Insurance Law Journal and the Australian Bar Review.
- 5. Forms and Precedents - use this form to search within your subscribed forms and precedents sources. Depending on your subscription, this may include the Australian Encyclopaedia of Forms and Precedents, Australian Tenancy Practice and Precedents and Federal Civil Litigation Precedents. You may also use this form to search forms and precedents that appear in other sources, such as practice and procedure works and services.
- 6. Dictionaries - use this form to search within your subscribed dictionaries sources. Depending upon your subscription, this will include the Butterworths Encyclopaedic Australian Legal Dictionary and Australian Legal Words & Phrases. From this form you can also access Australian Dictionary Tables search form.
- 7. Services - use this form to search within your subscribed services sources. These are sources that contain more than one content type, ie they may contain two or more of the following content types: commentary, legislation, forms & precedents, cases. Depending upon your subscription, this may include sources such as Practice and Procedure - High Court - Federal Court, Federal Criminal Law, Bankruptcy Law and Practice and Immigration Law.

Each search page has similarities, but each section is designed to search a particular type of content

For example: when using the Services page, you have the following options for searching:

1. Search Terms

Enter your search terms, using connectors to show the relationship between the terms. See Terms and Connectors (page 17) for more information.

2. Note: you can also click Connectors Help to find information on entering search terms and connectors.

3. Sources

Select a source from your most recently used or favourite sources, or click More Sources to go to the Sources tab to select from all available sources within this search form. To learn more about the contents of a source, click the information icon ⓘ to the right of the source menu. This will explain the available document sections, currency information, coverage/span and source overview etc.

4. Search Within

Select the type of content that you wish to search across within your selected source/s. The choices will depend on the content type you are searching. You may choose to search across all the material in the source or choose a subset that may include Legislation, Commentary or Forms/Precedents.

5. Search

To begin your search, click the Search button.

6. Content specific search options

These search options are designed to find references within a particular content type. For example, the Cases search page will offer the option to search for words appearing in the case name or the Catchwords, while a Commentary search allows you to search for words in Commentary headings or where cases or legislation are referred to.

Example:

Headings - find words that appear in headings only.

Sec/Reg/Rule - find a particular section, rule or regulation.

References to Cases/Legislation - find references in the commentary.

Form Number/Form Title - find a form or precedent by number or title.

7. Searching a source's index or table

Click on the Service Index/Tables link in the top right hand corner to be taken to the Index/Tables search form.

8. Search within particular document sections

Click on Show Document Sections to reveal this section of the search form.

The document sections that appear in the Select a Section drop-down list will be customised to search the content type you have selected.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis Services search interface. It includes a top navigation bar with links like Home, Cases, Legislation, Commentary, Forms & Precedents, Journals, Dictionaries, and Services. The main search area has a 'Search Terms' field (1) and a 'Search' button (5). Below this is a 'Sources' section with a dropdown menu (3) and a '+ Show Document Sections' link (2). The 'Search Within' section contains several input fields: 'Legislation Title', 'Part/Order', 'Sec/Reg/Rule' (6), 'Form Number', 'Form Title', 'References to Legislation', and 'References to Cases'. A 'Search Within' dropdown (4) is also present. On the right, there are 'Services Search Forms' and 'Related Searches' sections. The 'Help' section at the bottom right provides guidance on how to use the search features.

8 - Hide Document Sections

Select the section restriction required, enter terms and click "Add to search".

Sources tab

Locating your sources to search or browse

The Sources tab

find the source you wish to access, either through viewing lists of sources or by searching for a specific source.

To Access the Sources tab

1. Click the Sources tab from any page.
Or
2. To reveal more sources from within a Search form, click the More Sources link next to the source selector.

There are two ways to use the Sources tab: click the Browse tab and explore the Sources tab or click the Find Sources tab and enter a word or words to find sources with those words in the title.

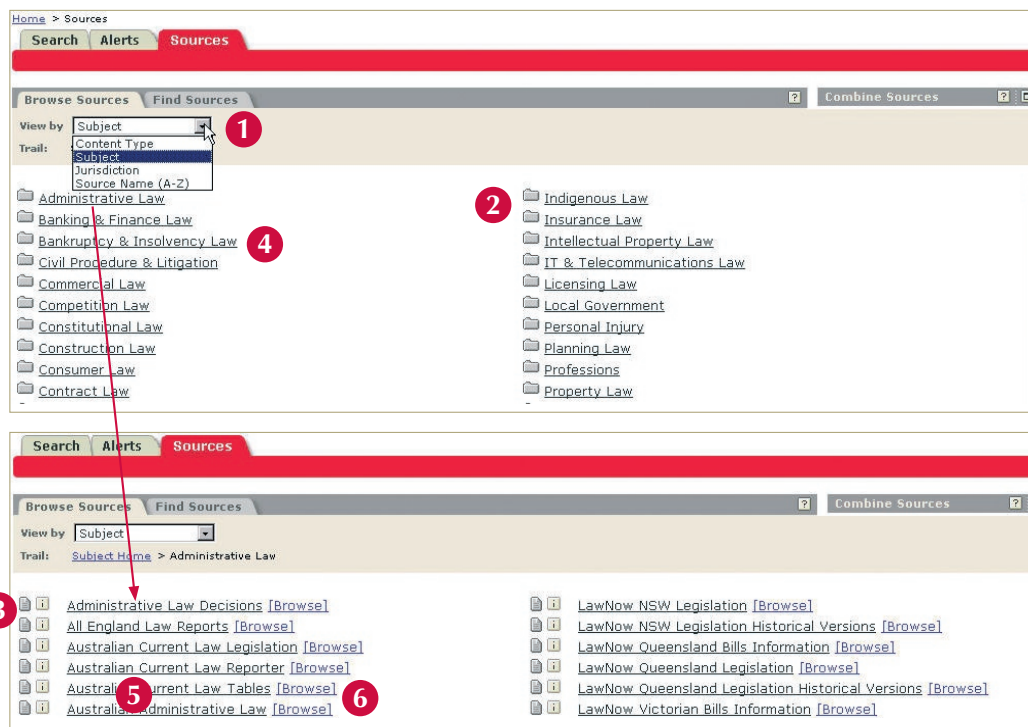

Browsing Sources

You can view your sources in the directory either alphabetically by name, by jurisdiction, by content type or by subject.

1. Select the relevant option from the drop-down list at the top of the page.
2. Large category folders indicate a group of sources. Click the title of the folder to browse those sources. Sources are indicated by a document icon.
3. Click any information icon beside a source title to learn more about the source.

To explore sources:

4. Click the category name for your area of interest to the right of the folder icon to navigate further down into the category.
5. When you have identified a source in which you want to search, click the source name, indicated with a document icon, to go to a search form.
6. Click the Browse link to the right of a source to navigate into the Table of Contents.

Finding Sources

Use the Find Sources tab when you know the specific source that you want to search or browse.

1. Type the name of the source, or words contained in the name of the source, in the text box next to Source Name eg Halsburys
2. Click Find Sources.

Note: You cannot use Boolean connectors (AND, OR, NOT) or universal characters (!, *) when entering a source in the Find Sources field.

Home > Sources

Search Alerts Sources

Browse Sources Find Sources Combine Sources

Source Name Find Sources

Examples: "Halsbury's Laws of Australia" or Halsbury Australia

Combining Sources (searching across more than one source)

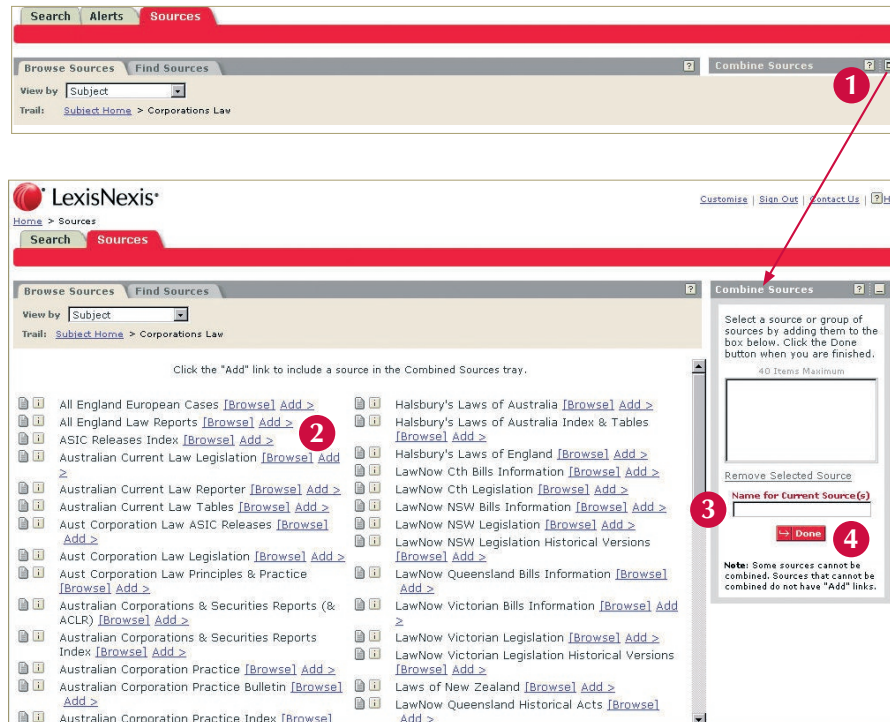

Use this feature to allow you to search across two or more sources at one time eg you may wish to combine Australian Corporations Law Principles and Practice and Ford's Principles of Corporations Law.

1. While on the Sources tab, click the Combine Sources “maximise” icon  in the right hand side of the screen.
2. In the main Sources screen, click any Add link next to a publication or source to add that to your Combined Sources list.
3. Choose a name for your combined source.
4. Click Done when you are finished selecting sources. Your combined source will appear in the Search form's source list.

Note: Your combined source will not appear as an item in the Sources tab. It will appear in the source menu on your current search page only.

You can minimise this form at any time by clicking the minimise icon . Any contents in the Combined Sources list will be lost if you close the form without clicking Done.

Note: Some sources might not be able to be combined at all. If there is no Add link next to a source, you cannot combine it with others.

Terms & Connectors

Words

Words are the basic units of a search. A word is a single character or group of characters, alphabetic or numeric, with a space on either side.

Examples:

McPherson	one searchable word
s198	one searchable word
s 198	two searchable words

A hyphen is treated as a space, so a hyphenated word is seen as two words.

Examples:

email	one word
e-mail	two words
e mail	two words

Phrases

Consecutive words are assumed as a phrase. You must use a connector to separate words that you wish to find in the same part of a document.

Examples:

contributory negligence	finds the phrase “contributory negligence”
contributory AND negligence	finds separate occurrences of the words “contributory” and “negligence”

Plurals

Using the singular word form will retrieve the singular, plural, and possessive forms of most words.

Example:

city would find city, cities, city’s, and cities’

The system will not automatically find the plural form of words that end in “us” or “is”, or other irregular plural forms.

Examples:

bonus would not find bonuses

child would not find children

Note: Use the OR connector in these instances, for example child OR children, or use a wildcard.

Connectors

The AND connector finds your search terms within the same document.

Example:

assault AND robbery finds the words “assault” and “robbery”

armed robbery AND weapon finds the phrase “armed robbery” and the word “weapon”

Use the OR connector to find documents that contain either or both of the words or phrases linked by OR.

Example:

lawyer OR counsel finds the words “lawyer” or the word “counsel,” or both takeover OR take over finds the words “takeover” or the phrase “take over,” or both

Use the W/N connector to find documents with search words that appear within “n” words of each other. The value of “n” can be any number up to 255. Either word may appear first.

Example:

fraud W/3 taxation finds “fraud” within three words of “taxation” airport W/5 noise W/5 abat! finds “airport” within five words of “noise” and then some form of the word “abate” within five words of either “airport” or “noise”

Use the W/P connector to find documents with search words that appear within the same paragraph.

Example:

rule 11 W/P sanction finds “rule 11” within the same paragraph as “sanction”

take over OR takeover W/P hostile finds “take over” or “takeover” within the same paragraph as “hostile”

Use the PRE/N connector to find documents in which the first search word precedes the second by no more than the stated number of words.

Example:

pay PRE/3 television finds documents in which “pay” precedes “television” by three or fewer words

Use the AND NOT connector to find documents in which a search word or phrase is to be excluded.

Example:

trust AND NOT charitable finds documents where the word “trust” occurs but the word “charitable” does not

Use the NOT W/N connector to find documents in which the first search word is found and where the second word need not be in the document, but if it is, it cannot be within ‘n’ words of the first word.

Example:

assault NOT W/2 sexual finds “assault” but not if it occurs within two words of “sexual”, excluding references to sexual assault.

Connector Order and Priority

Connectors operate in the following order of priority:

- OR
- W/N, PRE/N, NOT W/N
- W/P
- AND
- AND NOT

If you use two or more of the same connector, they operate left to right. If the “n” (number) connectors have different numbers, the smallest number is operated first. You cannot use the W/P connector with a proximity connector (e.g. W/N).

Changing Connector Priority

To change the connector priority, use parentheses. Connectors inside parentheses have priority over, or operate before, connectors outside parentheses.

Example:

bankrupt! W/25 discharg! AND (student OR college OR education W/5 loan)

Prioritises as: (student OR college OR education W/5 loan) AND (bankrupt! W/25 discharg!)

Precision Search Commands

In addition to connectors, there are several commands you can use to add precision to your searching.

Capitalisation

To specify that all search words have capital letters (ALLCAPS), no capital letters (NOCAPS), or one or more capital letters (CAPS), type the command followed by your search words enclosed in parentheses.

Example:

To search for documents that mention acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS)

ENTER: acquired immun! OR allcaps (aids)

To search for mentions of an aid:

ENTER: nocaps (aid)

To search for Aid as a title with the first letter capitalised:

ENTER: caps (aid)

Pluralisation

There may be times when you want only the plural or singular form of a word.

Example:

To find documents that mention service of a summons

ENTER: serv! w/3 plural (summons)

To limit your search to the singular form and to search for an additional item such as job discrimination

ENTER: singular (job) w/5 discriminat!

At Least

To locate documents that contain an in-depth discussion on a topic rather than just a mention, you can specify that a word or certain words must appear at least so many times in a document.

Example:

To find documents that contain an in-depth discussion of GST, the Goods and Services Tax

ENTER: atleast10 (gst)

This search requires GST to appear in every document at least 10 times.

Note: You can use any number from 1 to 255 with the AT LEAST command.

Date Restrictions

For sources that include date information (eg cases, journal articles), you have a number of options to restrict your search results to specific time periods.

Predefined date ranges can be selected from the drop-down list (eg Today, Previous Week, Previous Month, Previous Year etc).

You may also use the second drop-down list to specify more exact dates or date ranges. For example:

Previous	Select up to a hundred previous days, weeks, months or years
From	Select a specific date range, eg From 1 Jan 2003 to 30 June 2003
Is	Select an exact date, eg Jul 24 2003
Before	eg Before 31 Dec 2002
After	Use this option to specify that your results should be after a specific date, eg After Jan 2003

Truncation (!) and wildcard (*) searches

The truncation (!)

The truncation (!) replaces any number of characters at the end of the word.

Example:

neglig! finds “negligent,” “negligence” and “negligible”.

Note: Words that work best with ! are those that are unique in their truncated form. For example, if you search for fir! (thinking that you wanted to find “fired,” “firing,” or “fires”), your results will also include “first,” “firm,” and so on.

The wildcard (*)

The wildcard (*) replaces a single character at any point in a word.

Example:

maximi*e finds both “maximise” and “maximize”.

The wildcard (*) is particularly useful if you are unsure of the spelling of a particular word or name. You can also use multiple wildcards in a single word.

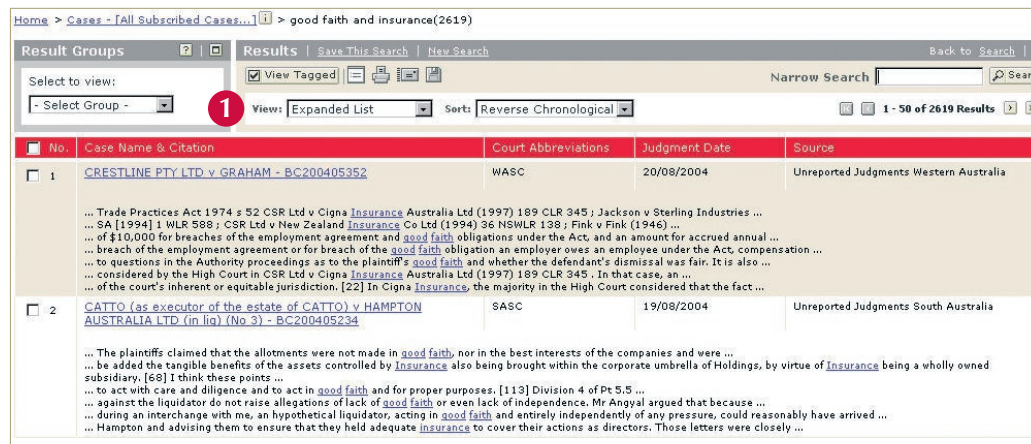

Example:

sm*th finds both the “smith” and “smyth” spellings of the name.

Results

View formats

1. You can look at your search results in several different view formats, available through the View drop-down list on the Results form.

List View

- Displays basic information about the documents your search retrieved in a numbered list.
- Click the Document Title to view the full text of the document. Check the box next to the title to tag the document for viewing or delivery.
- Court and Judgment Date will be included in search results from Cases sources.

Expanded List View

- Displays the same information as in List View for each document, plus your search terms in context, surrounded by up to 10 words on either side.

List with Catchwords view

(for Cases sources only)

- Displays the same information as the List View for each document plus the catchwords of the case (where available).

Sorting Search Results

1. To change the order of the displayed documents, select a sort format from the Sort drop-down list on the Results page. Sort options vary according to the type of documents in your results, but may include Reverse Chronological (ie most recent case first), Jurisdiction/Court, Relevance and Source Order among others.

Narrowing Search Results

2. Search within your results by adding terms and/or connectors to the Narrow Search box and click on Search.

The screenshot shows a legal research interface. At the top, a breadcrumb trail reads: Home > Cases - [All Subscribed Cases...] > good faith and insurance(2619). Below this is a 'Result Groups' section with a 'Select to view:' dropdown set to '- Select Group -'. To the right is a 'Results' section with a 'View Tagged' checkbox and a 'Narrow Search' box. Below the 'Results' section, there are 'Views' and 'Sort' dropdowns. The 'Views' dropdown is set to 'Expanded List' and the 'Sort' dropdown is set to 'Reverse Chronological'. A red circle with the number '1' is placed over the 'Sort' dropdown. To the right of the 'Sort' dropdown is a red circle with the number '2' placed over the 'Narrow Search' box. Below these controls is a table of search results. The table has five columns: 'No.', 'Case Name & Citation', 'Court Abbreviations', 'Judgment Date', and 'Source'. The first row shows case 1: 'CRESTLINE PTY LTD v GRAHAM - BC200405352', 'WASC', '20/08/2004', and 'Unreported Judgments Western Australia'. The second row shows case 2: 'CATTO (as executor of the estate of CATTO) v HAMPTON AUSTRALIA LTD (in liq) (No.3) - BC200405234', 'SASC', '19/08/2004', and 'Unreported Judgments South Australia'. Below the table, there is a large block of text providing details for the first case, including references to 'Trade Practices Act 1974 s 52', 'CSR Ltd v Cigna Insurance Australia Ltd (1997) 189 CLR 345', and 'Jackson v Sterling Industries ...'.

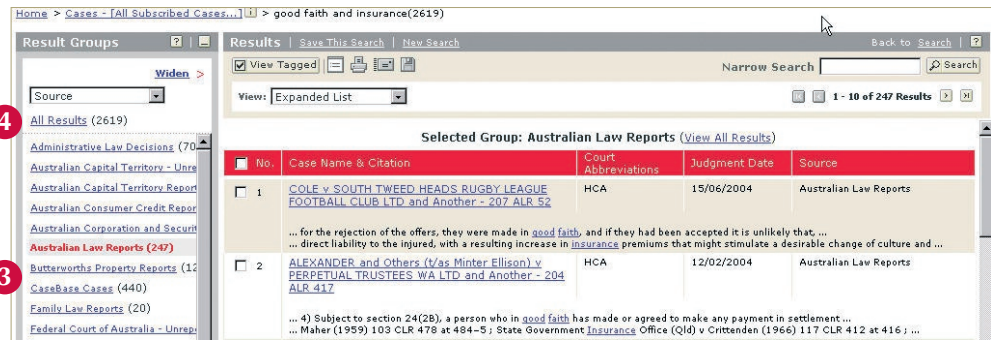

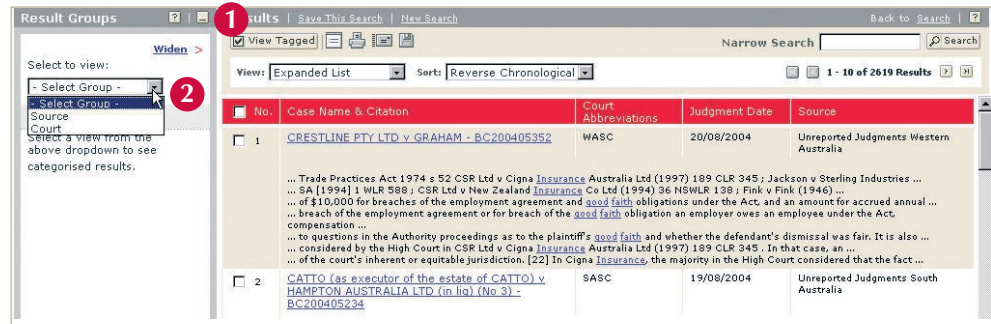

No.	Case Name & Citation	Court Abbreviations	Judgment Date	Source
1	CRESTLINE PTY LTD v GRAHAM - BC200405352	WASC	20/08/2004	Unreported Judgments Western Australia
2	CATTO (as executor of the estate of CATTO) v HAMPTON AUSTRALIA LTD (in liq) (No.3) - BC200405234	SASC	19/08/2004	Unreported Judgments South Australia

Result Groups

Use the Result Groups form to display a specific category of documents within your search results. For example, you may want to view the list of results from a specific source or from a particular jurisdiction/court. The available result groups vary depending on the content of your search results.

Note: The Result Groups form is available when viewing your results in the List, Expanded List, or Expanded List with Catchwords views only.

1. Ensure that the Result Groups form is maximised .
2. Click on the drop-down list to select how you would like your results grouped. Depending upon the sources you have searched, the groups may include source, court and legislation title.
3. Click a category name to view that list of results in the results page (right frame). The display includes the number of documents in each category. Each category or sub-category provides a filtered view of the original results list so that only those results within that category or sub-category are displayed in the results page.
4. Click the All Results link at the top of the Result Group display to return to the original results list.

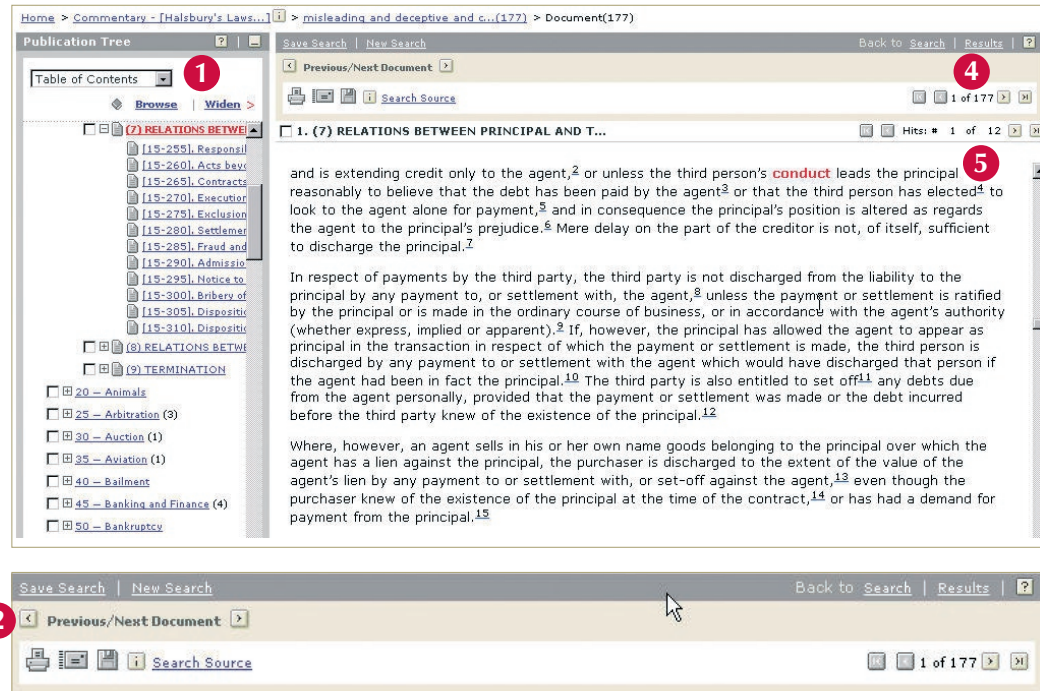

Document View

Viewing Specific Sections of a Publication

1. In Document View, you can use the Publication Tree to display a document's location within a source. For example, if you are viewing a particular section of a statute, the Publication Tree displays the table of contents for the entire statute, showing the names of the sections before and after the one you are viewing. Items displayed on the Publication Tree form are linked so you can quickly view other sections of the publication.

2. In addition to using the Publication tree to navigate through your source you can click on the Next document icons

3. If a document is available in PDF format (eg cases in Australian Law Reports, legislation in LawNow), the PDF link is available next to the document title.

Navigating Through Your Results

4. Use the following navigation buttons to move quickly through your results list, or through a set of documents in Document View. They appear on the right side of the Results or Document form.

They do not appear if your search retrieves only one document or one page of results.

- ⏪ Click to view the first page or document of your results.
- ⏩ Click to view the previous page or document of your results.
- ⏴ Click to view the next page or document of your results.
- ⏵ Click to view the last page or document of your results.

Note: Numbers representing the number of pages in your results list appear at the bottom of each page of results. The numbers are links that you can use to move to a specific results list page.

Moving through Hits Within a Document

5. In Document View, the number of search terms ("hits") in the document is displayed on the upper right of each document. Click the Hits navigation buttons to move quickly from search term to search term in the document:

- ⏪ Click to view the first search term in the document.
- ⏩ Click to view the previous search term in the document.
