

A photograph of the Australian Parliament House in Canberra at dusk. The building is illuminated from within, and its lights are reflected in a pool of water in the foreground. The Australian flag flies on a tall pole in front of the building. The sky is a deep blue with some clouds.

Capital Monitor™

Australia's premier parliamentary monitoring service

Ensure you are the first to know about government decisions and parliamentary debate that may affect your business. From standard policy updates, to budget releases and special briefing papers on the latest government policy announcements, LexisNexis Capital Monitor will keep you abreast of what you need to know.

LexisNexis Capital Monitor™ alerts you to all political information from its base in Parliament House. Source material is delivered straight to your desktop within minutes, so you can stay ahead of developments that could impact your organisation.

With LexisNexis Capital Monitor, you specify what you want to monitor from a broad range of subject areas such as climate change, superannuation, corporations law, industrial relations and more. You also gain access to a fully searchable database of over 2.5 million documents.

LexisNexis Capital Monitor can assist you...

- Leverage infrastructure or consulting opportunities
- Lobby government policy
- Build your expert brand image
- Keep ahead of legislative change
- Get the facts out of Parliament House, rather than a news source interpretation.

By...

- Delivering customised filtered news and information straight to your inbox.
- Providing instant access to raw source policy debate and political influence within your chosen area, straight out of Parliament House.
- Reducing information overload and saving you time.

LexisNexis Capital Monitor™ content and coverage includes:

- Press releases, transcripts and other related statements and reports by the Government, Opposition, and the minor parties, as well as industry reaction.
- Parliamentary papers, Committee and inquiry reports, Parliamentary Digests and Guidance notes.
- Legislation services including the texts of bills, acts, rulings, regulations, determinations and other associated content such as second reading speeches, explanatory memoranda, bills digests and drafts, legislative instruments compilations and ministerial directions.
- Hansard material (sections extracted debate by debate).
- Gazettes (Commonwealth, State and Territory).
- Court decisions from the High Court, Federal Court, Federal Circuit Courts, family court, state and territory supreme courts and commonwealth tribunals.

"I subscribe to LexisNexis Capital Monitor Parliamentary news and information service because in this role, it's important to know what's happening ahead in all spheres. LexisNexis Capital Monitor gives access to media releases, bills, questions in the house and a daily diary that all help me keep my large network up to date. It's very easy to add or alter categories of information, making it very easy to use."

Kasy Chambers
Executive Director, Anglicare Australia

Additional services include:

Tax Rulings – quick access to all tax rulings every Wednesday at 2pm. Includes an archive of all rulings by type.

High Court Judgments – quick access to judgments as soon as they are handed down.

Budget Material – LexisNexis Capital Monitor™ provides extensive coverage of the Federal Budget available immediately after the Treasurer's speech to Parliament. The material includes the official budget papers, speech, portfolio budget statements and all press releases issued in the budget lock-up. Previous budget reports are available from 1997.

Election Briefing Newsletters – include links to a full list of portfolio policies for each party and the campaign debate. Previous election papers are available from 1998.

Calendar – contains all Parliamentary sitting dates for all states and territories (including Federal) and budget dates. The Daily Diary is emailed twice daily and weekly and contains all press conferences, media interviews, reports due for release, appearances, launches, High Court hearings and Parliamentary Committee hearings

Media Release Boxing – Boxing of hard copy media releases helps cut through the email overload of media organisations. A physical printed copy of a media release is distributed to all of the media boxes in the Parliament House Press Gallery..

LexisNexis Capital Monitor publishes specialist topic eNewsletters

- Federal Daily eNewsletter
- Federal Weekly eNewsletter
- New South Wales eNewsletter
- Queensland eNewsletter
- Victorian eNewsletter
- Anti-Money Laundering eNewsletter
- Climate Change eNewsletter
- Corporations Law eNewsletter
- Financial Services eNewsletter
- Health eNewsletter
- Housing eNewsletter
- Indigenous Affairs eNewsletter
- Industrial Relations eNewsletter
- Superannuation eNewsletter

To stay ahead of developments in Australian politics and law, register for a free trial today.

Visit www.LexisNexis.com.au/CapitalMonitor or call 1800 772 772.

© 2017 Reed International Books Australia Pty Ltd trading as LexisNexis. LexisNexis, LexisNexis Red® and the Knowledge Burst logo are registered trademarks of RELX Intellectual Properties SA, used under license.

CC012017AH

