

About the Authors

Peter Rozen BA LLB (Hons) LLM

Barrister, Victorian Bar

Peter Rozen practises at the Victorian Bar and is regularly briefed in occupational health and safety cases. He also practises in coronial and industrial law. Peter has been a consultant to the International Labour Organisation as well as state, territory and Commonwealth governments in the field of occupational health and safety law. Peter is a fellow of the Centre for Employment and Labour Relations Law at the University of Melbourne and teaches Workplace Health and Safety Law in the Law faculty's postgraduate program. Peter is the author, together with Breen Creighton, of "Occupational Health and Safety Law in Victoria", now in its third edition.

Peter Rozen is the joint original author of the Annotated Model Work Health and Safety Act contained in this publication. Peter had principal responsibility for the annotations to Pts 1-4 and 8-14.

Kathryn Fawcett BA LLB (Hons)

Consultant, Slater & Gordon Lawyers, Victoria

Kathryn Fawcett is a former Partner and now Consultant at Slater & Gordon Lawyers. Over the last 12 years the Melbourne-based lawyer has worked both for and within unions and government. She has a broad knowledge of occupational health and safety, industrial relations and employment law, along with significant legislative advice and drafting experience. Kathryn is currently undertaking a Master of Laws at the University of Melbourne.

Kathryn Fawcett is the joint original author of the Annotated Model Work Health and Safety Act contained in this publication. Kathryn had principal responsibility for the annotations to Pts 5-7.

David Cormack LLB LLM

Barrister, More Chambers, Brisbane

David Cormack holds a LLM in law from the Queensland University of Technology. He specialises in occupational health and safety, personal injuries, including latent asbestos litigation, employment and industrial relations. Prior to private practice as a barrister, he worked as a lawyer for 10 years in regional Queensland and for WorkCover Queensland as In-house lawyer and counsel for over 7 years, with a special interest in asbestos litigation and fraud prosecutions. Pro bono services are provided to the RSPCA in their prosecution of offenders for cruelty to animals or for failing to provide care.

Lisa Willson B App Sc (OH&S), LLB, Grad Dip (Legal Practice) CPSIA, RSP (Aust), Adj Assoc Prof (Faculty Hlth Sc, UQ)

Barrister

Lisa Willson is a barrister practising in Queensland and is formally qualified in the area of health and safety having completed a Bachelor of Applied Science (Occupational Health and Safety) (QUT). Prior to going to the Bar, Lisa was employed as a Senior Consultant with an OH&S consulting firm for 11 years, providing expert advice to organisations in relation to occupational health and safety and public safety.

Lisa currently lectures in the area of health and safety law at Queensland University of Technology and has been appointed as an Adjunct Associate Professor with the Faculty of Health Science, University of Queensland.

Rick Manuel LLB (Hons) GDLP

Barrister, Wright Chambers, Adelaide

Rick Manuel is a barrister who specialises in employment, industrial and safety law. He has been admitted since 1990, and went to the bar in South Australia in 2006. In addition to being a member of the SA Bar, he has also been a long-standing member of the Industrial Committee of the Law Council of Australia. He qualified with Honours in law from the University of Adelaide in 1989, and received recognition of his achievements in industrial law. In 1995, he set up his own practice specialising in employment, industrial and safety law. This practice focused upon the needs of employers, but he commenced acting for employees as well when he joined the bar. His safety law practice has focused upon defending the interests of employers and other persons charged with offences under safety legislation.

Jonathan Adamopoulos LLB (Hons I) BSoSc (Dist), Grad Dip Leg Prac

Lawyer, Allens Arthur Robinson

Sessional Lecturer, School of Law, University of Western Sydney

Jonathan is a lawyer based in Sydney with expertise in work health and safety law. His practice in this field ranges from the formulation of safe work policies and procedures to acting for clients in response to safety incidents and investigations. He has acted for and advised clients in both the public and private sectors on various workplace safety matters across different jurisdictions and in a variety of contexts including major construction and infrastructure projects. Jonathan coordinates and lectures in the Occupational Health and Safety Law subject at the University of Western Sydney.

Joanna Betteridge, BA, LLB, LLM, GAICD, AccLEADR

Principal, Betteridge Legal Consulting, Melbourne

Joanna Betteridge holds a BA and LLM from the University of Melbourne. She specialises in OHS, discrimination and workplace law. Joanna was a partner with national firm Maddocks prior to commencing her own legal practice and consultancy. Joanna is also an accredited mediator. She advises and represents employers and senior executives in all aspects of employment law and occupational health and safety law and conducts many workplace investigations and reviews.

Joanna is a lecturer for Monash University in its Law Faculty postgraduate program and is a member of the Advisory Panel for the Monash University Law Faculty Master of Laws coursework program specialising in Workplace and Employment Law. Joanna is Vice Chair of the Board of Melbourne Citymission and sits on the Board of TEAR Australia. She is Chair of the Audit and Risk Committees of both Boards.

[The next page is 401]